14 Are your current pets sociable, and do they accept other animals coming into their territory well?

15 Do you have a separate space or room where you can isolate the foster animal if needed? (For example: for health reasons, heat, or during the first days of adjustment):

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

LIMITS, BEHAVIOR AND THE ANIMAL'S PROFILE

16 Which behaviors are you willing to tolerate and work on patiently during the adjustment period? (Tick all the options you feel comfortable with):

- ☐ Toilet accidents inside the house (pee or poop in the wrong place while it learns)
- ☐ Excessive barking, crying or howling (for example, when left alone or at night)
- ☐ Chewing inappropriate things (furniture, shoes, clothes, plants, cables)
- ☐ Extreme fear or extreme shyness around people
- ☐ Hyperactivity or lack of basic training (jumping on people, pulling hard on the leash during walks)
- ☐ Mild separation anxiety
- ☐ Convalescing animals (needing simple medical care, medication or rest)

17 Is there any behavior or situation that you definitely CANNOT or do not want to handle in your home?

TIME, EXERCISE AND DAILY ROUTINE

18 Approximately how many hours a day will the animal be alone at home?

19 For dogs, how many times a day do you plan to walk them, and roughly how long will each walk last?

20 Who will be mainly responsible for the walks, cleaning and daily care?

21 What would you do if the animal shows destructive behavior due to stress or anxiety during the first days of adjustment?

SCHEDULES, FOSTERING OPTIONS AND AVAILABILITY

22 Which fostering option(s) would you like to help us with? (You may tick more than one):

- ☐ Option A – Short term (preparing for international travel): a short stay of 2 to 3 weeks while the animal completes its health protocol, vaccines and legal paperwork before flying to its forever home abroad (usually in Canada). It is an ideal option if your time is limited!
- ☐ Option B – Active transition (until a local adoption): housing the animal while the association's team actively promotes it every day to find it a forever home. The time frame varies, but you become a key piece in getting to know its personality and helping us promote it.
- ☐ Option C – Convalescence or health recovery: care focused strictly on the recovery of an animal that has been injured, has had surgery or is going through an illness. The length depends entirely on its medical discharge (from a few days to a couple of weeks) and requires help with medication or rest.

23 Flexibility with dates (very important for Option A, international travel): sometimes commercial flights, weather or government paperwork can be delayed by a few days for reasons beyond the association's control. Would you be flexible enough to extend the care by a few extra days if absolutely necessary? If you have a strict, non-negotiable deadline by which you must hand the animal over (family trips, work reasons, moving, etc.), please give it in the comment: exact date or latest available period.

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

LOGISTICS, VISITS AND THE ADOPTION PROCESS

24 For animals up for local adoption (Option B): do you agree to receive visits at your home from potential adopters, always coordinated beforehand with the association's team?

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

25 Are you willing to take photos and short videos and send them to us, and to give us regular updates on its behavior? (This is vital to promote the animal on social media and speed up its adoption):

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

26 We know very well that it is easy to get attached. Do you feel emotionally ready to let the animal go happily when the time comes for it to travel or be handed over to its forever family?

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

27 If, while fostering, you decide that you want to formally and permanently adopt your foster animal, do you understand and accept that you must tell the association right away and go through the regular adoption process? (Note: except for dogs planned for international travel, since a local adoption by the foster is not possible for them: they already have an adoptive family waiting in Canada):

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:

HEALTH, CARE AND GIVING MEDICATION

28 Do you have the full responsibility, commitment and time to give the medications or treatments prescribed by the vet on schedule, according to the animal's plan?

☐ Yes ☐ No Comment:
